Sen. Kennedy Pledges Farmer-OKd Program

Ag Problems 'Number One'

Demo Nominee 'Will Make Good' On 'Strong' Party Platform

By Don Walton

Des Moines—Democratic presidential nominee Jack Kennedy Sunday enlisted the mid-western farmer as a full partner in his party's proposed agricultural program.

Kennedy and his running mate—Sen. Lyndon Johnson—met with farm audiences here in Iowa's largest city in their first major joint appearance of this budding campaign.

They were joined by a galaxy of democratic national leaders in the greatest gathering of party luminaries since the Los Angeles National Convention.

Kennedy and Johnson listened to the findings of an agricultural work conference, then pledged (if elected) to enact a farm policy which has the support of the American farmer.

Kennedy, speaking before an enthusiastic mob of more than 8,000 persons at Veteran's Memorial Auditorium, promised to "make good" the democratic farm platform of 1960.

That platform, the Massachusetts senator said, is "the strongest pledge ever given to the farmers of America by any political party in history."

'Comparable Returns'

Kennedy said: "It means that farmers shall receive returns for their labor, for their managerial skills, and for their investment which are equal to the returns received for comparable human talents and resources in other types of enterprise."

The farm problem, Kennedy said, is "the number one domestic issue in the U.S. today."

America, the presidential nominee told a farm panel audience at the Hotel Fort Des Moines, "falls behind when the farmer falls behind."

'Listen, Learn'

Both Kennedy and Johnson made major mention of the fact that they had come to Iowa "to listen and to learn."

Johnson pounded it home this way:

"You recommended it; we will study and evaluate it."

"The Democratic Congress will pass it and the Democratic president will sign it."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota noted that "the first major political gathering of the 1960 campaign takes place in the heart land of America, evidencing the regard of our party for the farmer."

The huge democratic conclave concluded a two-day twelve date farm conference aimed at winning the mid-west.

Slams Nixon

Kennedy slammed at Republican nominee Richard Nixon's association with the present GOP farm program.

"When it comes to agriculture, I can only say that disaster has been his experience, and (Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft) Benson has been his teacher," Kennedy told the mammoth auditorium audience.

The Republican agricultural policy, he said, has been one of "collapsing farm income."

While there are "no new or magical solutions" to the farm crisis, Kennedy said, his proposed farm program must point to 4 basic objectives:

—a positive policy of supply management to raise farm prices and incomes to parity levels.

—a positive food and nutrition policy for all Americans.

—a dynamic food and fiber policy for world wide use.

—a long range program for low-income farms, credit research and new rural industries.

'No Timid Change'

"Timid and temporary changes will not do," the nominee suggested.

Following examination of the entire farm problem and further study of proposals such as those presented here, Kennedy said, he will "spell out" his agricultural program throughout this campaign.

Johnson pledged to "make agriculture welcome once again in the federal government."

Nixon, he said, is "one of the chief architects of the Benson policies."

'Divorce Not In Order'

The vice-president's effort to divorce himself from Benson is "not in order after so many years together," Johnson told the farm audience.

Other democratic leaders on hand included Senators Stuart Symington, Estes Kefauver and Henry Jackson, the Democratic national chairman.

Among governors who attended the conference were G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Herschel Loveless of Iowa, Ralph Brooks of Nebraska, Orville Freeman of Minnesota, George Docking of Kansas and Ralph Herseth of South Dakota.

Sports Lovers Crowd New Two Rivers Area

Omaha (AP)—Sports lovers by the droves spread over the new Two Rivers State Recreation Area Sunday as Gov. Ralph Brooks and State Game Commission Director Mel Steen formally dedicated the 933 acre spot.

Fishermen found, as they had Saturday when the area opened for the first time, that trout were biting. Getting the limit of 5 was an easy chore, even for the novice.

"What you see here is not the end of anything," said Gov. Brooks, "but the beginning of everything."

He cited a resolution by the Nebraska U.S. Highway 30 Association commending Steen on "courage and foresight" in proposing the Platte River parkway.

Notes Levy Suggestion Brooks also took note of the Association's resolution backing a .35 mill levy to bring about the Platte River parkway, calling the potential of the Platte River valley unlimited.

The governor commended Steen as a man of "vision, courage and perseverance. Because of Steen's vision, I hope the people of Nebraska will support the Game Commission's program."

Steen told a crowd estimated at 4,000, "We dedicate the Two Rivers recreation area with great pride as a demonstration of what can be done when the commission is given the tools to build such a facility."

"Willing, Anxious" "The commission is not only willing, but most anxious to do things for Nebraskans that they want done," he said, adding: "Recreation problems cannot be solved without adequate financing."

Until recently, Steen said, the Game Commission has not had the money to provide such a facility as Two Rivers. He noted, though, it was far from being completed and told of future plans for the area.

Steen concluded: "Nebraskans have a great need, both social and economic, to develop both outdoor recreation and tourist trade. This is a need that cannot be realized without the proper tools."

Get Limit A Lincoln trio of Wesley Bottsford, Kenneth Fintzel and Bill Shaneyfelt were among those getting the 5-trout limit at the first pay-to-fish trout spot in the state.

Shaneyfelt called fishing at Old Cowles Lake, 18 miles west of Omaha on U.S. 30a, "better than in western Nebraska. It is the first time I have caught my limit in Nebraska."

Shaneyfelt spoke while holding a string of one and one-half to two pound rainbow trout.

Bombers Hit Negro Home

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—Stealthy bombers struck a Negro neighborhood at the very foot of famed Lookout Mountain early Sunday, sending two youngsters who were cut by flying glass to a hospital.

The blast, shattering the pre-dawn quiet of a Sunday morning, was the 5th explosion with racial overtones here this month and the 4th in 10 days. It caused by far the worst damage.

The explosion, probably dynamite, was set off beneath the porch of a 5-room frame duplex apartment, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reid and their 4 young children. It was just outside a bedroom where the parents and David, 7 months, were asleep.

Splintered

The Reid apartment was turned into a mass of wood splinters and broken glass, and the porch was disintegrated. David, sleeping near the window, was showered by splintered glass and Sandra Lennise, 3, sleeping with her brother and sister in a rear bedroom, was cut by flying glass. The other two youngsters, Thomas Jr., 4, and Sharon Lynn, 2, escaped injury along with the parents. All the children, after a trip to Children's Hospital, were spirited across town in the care of relatives.

All Negro

The neighborhood has been all Negro for years, but white residents live some 3 blocks away.

"We both woke up and started feeling for children," Mrs. Reid said. "There was smoke and fumes everywhere and the children were all crying and hollering. We didn't run outside or anything; we just grabbed the children, held them and called the police."

Asked if he knew of a possible motive, Reid said, "all I know is whoever did this is lowlife trash."

Reid, 24, a laboratory assistant for a chemical firm, has lived with his family in the apartment for the past 4 years; the other side of the building, also 5 rooms, has been occupied for the past 10 years by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John James. James is retired; Mrs. James is a cashier for the Chattanooga Housing Authority.

Wrecked Car

The blast knocked her out of bed, and caused relatively minor damage to her apartment. It shattered windows of a house across the street occupied by Arthur Wombel, and wrecked Reid's 1955 automobile.

Mrs. James said she thought she smelled the acrid odor of dynamite, but Chief

No Action On Soviet Plan

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI)

—The Security Council adjourned early Monday without taking formal action on a Soviet-backed Congolese challenge to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's policy in the Congo.

Except for Russia and Poland, the two Communist members, the council expressed solid support for Hammarskjöld's military and civilian policies, which were sharply criticized by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov in an open break with the secretary general.

Facing sure defeat, Kuznetsov withdrew the only resolution offered at a marathon Sunday session. It was a move to establish a consultative committee acceptable to Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba at Leopoldville to aid Hammarskjöld in direction of the U.N. Congo effort.

Hammarskjöld, whose policy had been challenged by Lumumba, convoked the council to obtain "clarification" of his stand.

French Ambassador Armand Berard, council president of August, summed up the 11-nation body's consensus at the end of 9 hours and 23 minutes of debate. The council adjourned at 1:47 a.m. EDT.

"In the course of the day, and even in the early hours of this morning," Berard said, "we have heard different views and questions. We are convinced that the secretary-general will have found the clarification he required and that no doubt will help him in continuation of his task."

Challenged

Kuznetsov challenged Hammarskjöld's military and civilian policies in the Congo and charged that the United Nations was considering dispatch of a NATO foreign legion "to the African country. With thin veiling, he warned that Russian help for Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba's government would follow quickly if that happened.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said it was "unthinkable that the United Nations should draw the racial line" by pulling white troops out of the U.N. force and leaving only black contingents on the Congo.

"The world has suffered too much from such racism," he said.

He said the United States opposed "volunteers" such as Kuznetsov had warned might be sent if forces from NATO countries were used in the Congo.

As for Russia's complaint that Belgium and Canada were NATO allies, he said Kuznetsov "surely must know that they are allies only in protection against an attack by the Soviet Union."

Under U.N.

U.S. technicians in the Congo are not under American orders and are working "under a plan approved by the secretary general and Mr. Lumumba," Lodge said.

"That is good enough for us," he said. "And we think, in view of Mr. Kuznetsov's professed loyalty to Mr. Lumumba, it should be good enough for him."

Lodge concluded: "The United Nations is laying the foundations for law and order, a sound administration and economic recovery in the Congo. This is no time to be looking for fly specks.

Kuznetsov was outspoken in his denunciation of the use of any NATO forces in the Congo.

"If we agree to the formation of a foreign legion or the sending of Belgian or other NATO volunteers that, in fact, would simply be a re-labelling of aggression," Kuznetsov said. "We cannot fail to see that this might lead to a flood of real volunteers from among the countries of Africa as well as the countries of other continents which are loyal friends of an Independent Congo."

Canadians

Kuznetsov based his allegation about a "NATO foreign legion" on the dispatch of a Canadian contingent which Russia has demanded be withdrawn from the U.N. force in the Congo.

Hammarskjöld, who opened the Sunday emergency session of the Security Council by rejecting Lumumba's challenge to his policy of U.N. neutrality toward the secession of mineral-rich Katanga province, rose quickly to Kuznetsov's criticism.

The Canadians were sent to the Congo, he said, because he needed bilingual signmen he could not get from any other country. Although he followed the rule that no troops from any permanent member of the Security Council be included in a U.N. Force, he said, "I don't look at either the NATO or Warsaw pact groups or any other group as excluding countries.

He said he had, in fact, asked Russia's ally, Poland, for an ordnance unit and a medical group for the Congo "but this has led to nothing."

Brooks Asks Review Of Assistance Levels

By Betty Person

Gov. Ralph Brooks announced Sunday that he is asking the Board of Control and Division of Public Welfare to "review immediately" the state's assistance standards to determine whether they "reflect the increased cost of living."

He further is asking for recommendations on any "appropriate administrative adjustment which will help to maintain a moderate but adequate standard of living for those on our public assistance rolls."

The governor is making the request in a letter to Board of Control Chairman Charles Leeman, Vice Chairman Harold Peterson, Member Mrs. Ethel Kirwin, and Welfare Director Frank Woods.

'Adequate Standard'

"I have always felt that our public assistance program should provide for a low cost but adequate standard of living for those who lack other resources to meet basic economic needs," Brooks' letter states.

"The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor has recently cited a rising trend in the consumer price index. In the cost of food and other basic requirements, from 1958 through March 1960, the consumer price index climbed from 123.5 to 125.7.

"This increase, one of which every every housewife is aware, has prompted a feeling of concern for those aged, disabled Nebraskans receiving public assistance as well as for those receiving blind assistance and aid to dependent children," the governor continued.

Last Change In 1958 "According to my understanding," Brooks wrote, "the last upward adjustment in their budgetary requirements for food and other basic necessities as made in December, 1958.

"In view of this apparent increase in the cost of food and other basic requirements, I request that you review immediately our assistance standards in order to determine whether or not they reflect the increased cost of living.

"I shall appreciate receiving your recommendations on any appropriate administrative adjustment which will help to maintain a moderate but adequate standard of living for those on our public assistance rolls," the governor concluded.

Warning Issued

Lincoln had a high in the afternoon of 92, with a low of 60.

Despite predicted showers for the west and north Monday, highs are still expected to range from 90 to 95 across most of the state and up to 100 in the panhandle.

In the eastern portions, skies will be cloudy with occasional light showers expected Monday evening.

OAS Condemnation Official

San Jose, Costa Rica (AP) — Western hemisphere foreign ministers Sunday night formally signed a resolution condemning the regime of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo and imposing stern punitive measures against his Dominican Republic government. Then they turned to charges of communist penetration of Latin America with the emphasis on the growing friendship between Cuba and the Soviet Union.

A member of the Guatemalan delegation said his country is preparing a strong resolution accusing Cuba of aggression against Guatemala. The resolution is expected to be presented at the opening of the second phase of the foreign ministers meeting Monday. The ministers represent the nations that make up the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic and economic restrictions against the Dominican Republic will remain in force until its government meets the democratic standards set by the OAS, diplomatic sources said.

They said the OAS probably will send an investigating committee to Ciudad Trujillo, the Dominican capital, to look into any change in government before readmitting the Dominican Republic to the American family of nations. This, they said, explains the significance of a move to create some kind of an OAS watchdog committee to keep an eye on developments in the tension-packed Caribbean area.

The United States last week proposed such a committee to supervise free elections in the Dominican Republic. OAS foreign ministers voted instead, however, to condemn the strongman regime of Trujillo, cut diplomatic relations and end arms shipments.

Trujillo has ruled the Dominican Republic for 30 years.

Under terms of the resolution, resumption of diplomatic relations or suspension of the economic penalties called sanctions could come only on a two-thirds vote of the OAS council and only after the council had satisfied itself that the Dominican government no longer constituted a threat to the peace and security of the hemisphere.

The resolution also provides that the United Nations must be informed of the ministers' action. The Dominican delegation, which walked out of the meeting, has hinted it might appeal the decision to the U.N. Security Council.

Guardsmen Spot 'Hunter'

Men in military convoys sometimes see unusual and even comical happenings as their trucks go down the highway.

Four miles south of Worthington, Minn., on U.S. Hwy. 59, a 1960-model red station wagon late Saturday passed a convoy of Lincoln Army National Guardsmen.

Caught by the neck in the car's right bumper was a pheasant, feathers and feet flying. One private commented: "Maybe it's a new way to get around hunting out of season."

The trucks rolled on and children all along the way waved and called greetings to "those Army men."

One enterprising youngster, however bubbled over with good will by tossing sacks full of water into troop-laden trucks. That he did while the skies poured down rain.

Lawyers Ready Clemency Plea In Powers Case

Moscow (AP) — A petition for clemency for U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was drawn up on this rainy Moscow Sunday by 3 Virginia lawyers who accompanied members of his family to the Soviet Union.

Attorney Alexander W. Parker of Richmond said the petition will be submitted Monday at the office of Leonid Brezhnev, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, sometimes termed the Soviet president.

Powers already has let it be known he doesn't think much of his chances for clemency. A Soviet court Friday sentenced him to 10 years on espionage charges specifying that the first 3 years were to be spent in prison.

Contents of the clemency petition were not made public but Mikhail Griniov, the Soviet lawyer who defended Powers in court, advised the Virginians to keep it short and have it signed by the family. The Virginia attorneys said they were abiding by this advice.

As the rain teemed down outside, members of the Powers family stayed in their hotel rooms. Griniov has told them it usually takes a month for a clemency plea to be acted on, but that it might go faster in this case because the pilot's father and mother, sister and wife are here waiting.

Guardman Gets Warm Greeting

Sp. 4 Jerry Sievers of Lincoln gets a fond greeting from his wife as Lincoln units of the Nebraska Army National Guard rolled into home station after their two-week summer field training at Camp Ripley, Minn. The 800 Lincoln men and some 2,000 other Nebraska Guardsmen were transported entirely by their own vehicles both to and from camp for the first time in history, Nebraska Adj. Gen. Lyle M. Welch reported.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

The other evening, we went over to the Hotel Splendide Royal to see how the British are taking the Cronin caper.

Summer is always balmy in the lake country of the Swiss-Italian Alps—except when it rains. Lugano is really a complex of little jewel towns—Romantica and Paradiso, Cassarte, Castagnola, Masagno.

If you take a look at the names of the hotels—the Palace, Bristol, Eden, Bellevue, Select, Belvedere—you must realize that here is a part of Switzerland that forever is a bit of England.

The Empire may creak. Butlers may stiff the "Royal Family." But we still hold the approaches to Paradiso.

There is probably no hotel in Europe more splendid than the Splendide Royal. It is a great sprawl of gingerbread, set in a garden as formal as Cardinal Wolsey's maze at Hampton Court.

The crystal chandeliers are massive. Each prism is hand-polished each day by a corps of apple-cheeked maids.

The guests are mainly British—the reading room is stacked with copies of the London Times and Observer.

The bar has the look of a medieval dungeon. At 6 o'clock, the guests come down, one by one, for the evening pink gin. They drink it silently in the dark gloom.

There is a slot machine in the corner that is played with Swiss francs.

Once in awhile a departing guest drops a franc, pulls the lever and watches the wheels go round.

"Does it ever pay?" we asked the Swiss bartender.

"Never," he said frankly.

We were the only ones left in the bar at 7 o'clock.

"There are a hundred guests in the hotel," said the bartender. "But at this time, there is no one in the bar."

"They come in at 6, read the paper and leave."

"What do they read about?"

"Where Our Customers Send Their Friends"

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

The face fly has been found in Lancaster, Douglas and Saunders counties.

The face fly is a little larger than a house fly and resembles the house fly very closely. Control of the fly is difficult.

The fly will suck liquids anywhere on the body of livestock, even the saliva that is deposited on the backs and sides of cattle when they brush flies away.

The face fly readily sucks fresh blood made by wounds of horseflies, stable flies and other blood sucking insects. Face flies avoid shady places, preferring open areas.

"Some relief can be obtained by treating cattle each day with pyrethrum fly sprays with or without repellents, according to Robert E. Roselle, extension entomologist at the University of Nebraska."

Farmers are being confronted with another obstacle. In view of an expectant record crop grainmen are reporting one of most serious shortages of storage space ever experienced in the midwest.

What can a farmer do that has a bumper crop and no storage?

According to ASC regulations for securing a loan to build storage the following formula is used.

They will allow loans for storage to cover a normal crop, plus one years storage. A farmer that normally produced 10,000 bushels on his farm could get loans of 80 per cent the cost of moveable structures for 20,000 bushel capacity.

If you have not made full use of this facility Richard Lefferdink of the Lancaster ASC is recommending that farmers contact their dealer handling storage and to get estimates to the county committee for help needed in adding storage to the farm.

Loans up to $2500 can be approved by the county committee, those requests for additional funds must have the approval of the state committee.

The loans are made through Commodity Credit Corporation funds and cannot be made for the foundations if concrete is used under the bins.

"Only movable structures apply for loans," say ASC spokesmen.

How stored grain pests can be controlled will be demonstrated at the Albert Hoops farm 2 miles north and one east of Byron Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Proper fumigation of grain bins will be demonstrated by Robert E. Roselle, extension entomologist, University of Nebraska. He will also show how to properly bait for rat control around the farm.

Lloyd Young, Seward county extension agent, says, "One of the best tours of the season in our area will be held Tuesday during our annual Irrigation Tour which starts at the Willard Schroeder farm, 5 miles west and 6 miles south of Seward."

Horse Show and open class pony show at the State Fair Coliseum Tuesday evening at 6:45 p.m.

This event free to the public is being planned as a special event for the Lancaster County Fair.

It has been estimated that there are over 1,000 horses in the Lincoln vicinity. Many of the folks you know will be in the show.

The Nebraska Crop Reporter states, "The 1960 sorghum grain crop is expected to hit 79,304,000 bushels, about 20 million bushels larger than the 1959 crop. Part of the gain is due to larger acreage, but the yield is expected to be the highest on record."

The Union Pacific Railroad has awarded 298 outstanding young agriculturists with scholarships during the past year, according to Joe W. Jarvis, supervisor of livestock and agriculture for the UP.

This is the largest number of grants made in any one year since the program was started in 1921.

"Our program is designed to provide incentive for a career in which these young people have already expressed serious interest," Jarvis stated.

These "Carl Gray Scholarships" have been given to a total of 8,137 young men and women.

PRINCESS REPORTED EXPECTING

London (AP) — Princess Margaret is 30 Sunday and a British newspaper said there are rumors she is expecting a baby.

The Sunday Dispatch came out with this front page headline: "Princess Margaret: A Baby?"

It said there were persistent reports in American circles in London that Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones, her husband of 3½ months, are expecting their first child. There was no confirmation of the rumor from court spokesmen.

Maj. A. J. Griffin, press officer to the Princess and Queen Mother Elizabeth, said he knew nothing about it.

"Nobody in the world would know save the Princess and her husband," he said. "Of course, it would be a happy event to announce on her birthday. But no announcement like that is coming from me."

A baby born to Princess Margaret would come fifth in line of succession to the British throne.

Certainly, if she is to become a mother, it has not interrupted Margaret's recent round of social activities.

Must Be A Midwesterner And Believe In Family Farm

By Don Walton
Des Moines—Jack Kennedy Sunday spelled out four attributes he will insist upon if destiny caps him to choose the next U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

All-Out Effort For Industry —Morrison

Democrat Frank Morrison said Sunday that if elected governor, he will spend his own time and money before taking office to visit eastern industrial area in an "all-out effort to sell Nebraska's industrial potential."

The pledge is contingent on Nebraska voters approving at the general election the constitutional amendment authorizing cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial sites and buildings, he said.

As governor, Morrison said, he would become "the state's top salesman on Nebraska's excellent facilities for certain types of industry."

He called attention to numerous smaller cities in the southern United States which, "with much less to offer than Nebraska," have been successful in attracting industry.

"It's a job of salesmanship and the determination to get things done," Morrison said.

Parker Named To Political Group

Washington (UPI) — Don I. Parker, Lincoln, Neb., has been named a charter member of a republican "volunteer" organization the GOP hopes will woo independent voters to the Republican ticket in the November election.

Parker is an official of Kiwanis International.

Washington Attorney Charles S. Rhyne has been named by Vice President Nixon to head the "Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge."

Working under Rhyne's direction will be specialized groups in the academic, professional and entertainment fields.

The secretary, he said, must bear these characteristics:

—He should have been a farmer at some time in his life.

—He must live in the Midwest.

—He should believe that his responsibility is to preserve the family farm.

—It would help if he were a Democrat.

Kennedy painted the picture of his possible agricultural chief in a news conference at the Veteran's Memorial Auditorium.

Finigan Qualifies
(State Agricultural Director Pearl Finigan would meet all four standards. Finigan has been mentioned prominently as a possible Kennedy choice.)

(Finigan was named by Kennedy Sunday as a member of the executive committee of his newly formed Farmers for Kennedy-Johnson Committee.)

Kennedy noted, in answer to a question from the press, remarks attributed to Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton in Omaha this weekend.

The Nebraskan, a member of the so-called 5-man Nixon strategy board, suggested that Benson farm policies have failed because the Democratic congress never gave them a chance, Kennedy said.

No Part Of Benson

"If that is the Nixon plan — to write the Benson plan into the statutes — I want no part of it," the Massachusetts senator replied.

Seaton has himself been mentioned as a possible Nixon Secretary of Agriculture. Kennedy also lashed back at charges by Republican Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania that he has used his family fortune to buy votes.

Scott, Kennedy said, "may have lost his membership in the Republican truth squad today."

"I hope," Kennedy said, "that we are not again to be taken down the old road of campaigning."

Further, Kennedy noted, "I do not share the belief that the farm vote is for sale."

Rhee Statue Down

Seoul, South Korea (AP) — A big bronze statue of ex-president Syngman Rhee is being pulled down from a hillside park overlooking the capital. Decision to remove the statue — one of two erected in Seoul during the last years of the Rhee regime — was made last month by the caretaker government.

Nebraskans Ask Kennedy, Others To Appear Here During Campaign

By Don Walton

Des Moines — Nebraska Democratic leaders bid Sunday for personal appearances in the Cornhusker state this fall by presidential nominee, Jack Kennedy and 4 other national party spokesmen.

Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle and State Chairman Russell Hanson discussed farm belt problems with Kennedy in a closed-door session here.

The two Nebraskans were among state party leaders called together by Democratic National Chairman Henry Jackson to consider the midwestern campaign.

Both Kennedy and his running mate, Senator Lyndon Johnson, were asked to carry their campaign personally into Nebraska this fall.

Boyle and Hanson also requested appearances by Senator Stuart Symington, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Kennedy was specifically invited to address the State Soil and Water Conservation Convention in Fremont, October 2-4.

Meanwhile, in a statement issued in Des Moines, Gov. Ralph Brooks called for "increased use of our surplus farm products in industry and the development of new crops to reduce glutting of the markets."

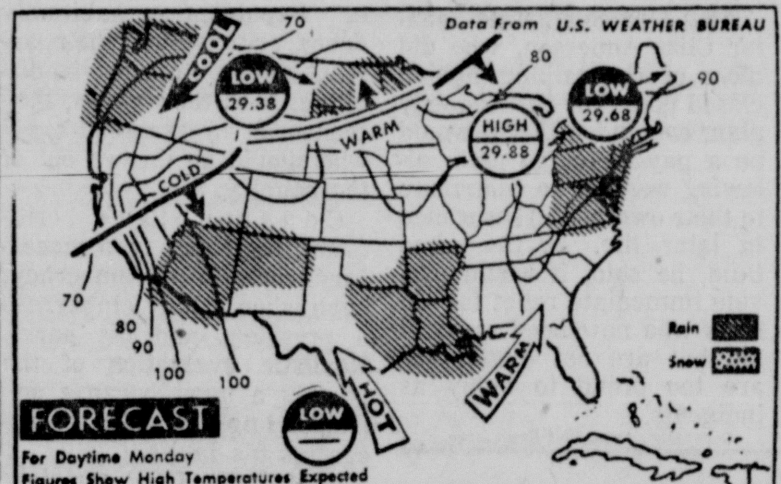

Nebraska, Brooks said, has already taken positive action in both areas.

The governor pointed to the Nebraska Agricultural products research fund bill passed by the 1959 legislature.

Brooks also spoke of measures approved by the recently concluded special legislative session as a step to "place our state in a more competitive position in the field of industrial expansion."

"To re-elect a Republican administration, with or without Mr. Benson, to administer our farm program would be to leave the cat in charge of the canary—a policy recommended only to those interested in producing fatter fat cat and fewer canaries," Brooks said.

Cloudy Skies For Nebraska

Rain areas seen for Monday include parts of the middle Atlantic states, the Mississippi Valley, Plains, southern Plateau and Pacific northwest. Elsewhere it should be generally fair with mostly sunny skies. It is due to be cooler in the northern Rockies and Montana, continued warm in the Atlantic coast area and warmer in Wisconsin, lower Michigan and the Ohio Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Missionaries Leaving Congo 'Unbelievable'

"It's so unreal, you sometimes wonder when you are going to wake up," says furloughed medical missionary, Dr. Vernon Vogt.

Dr. Vogt, recently evacuated from the Congo, told members of the Lincoln Menonite Brethren Church Sunday that "it is unbelievable that Christian missionaries would flee their Congo stations — but it did happen."

The appalling part of the whole affair, Dr. Vogt explained, is that since the evacuation of the mission compounds, the whole area is unsupplied with medical help.

300 A Day
He told the audience that before he left, the station cared for as many as 300 natives a day. Multiplied by the number of stations in the Congo, this leaves an alarming number of natives without medical care each day.

Dr. Vogt pointed out that the natives no longer need the white missionary to do evangelistic work in the Congo.

"Evangelism will go on through the trained Christian natives — but the medical practice cannot."

Speaking for the missionaries, Dr. Vogt said "Our hearts are still open to the natives, some of whom are still sitting in their huts, waiting for boxes of independence to be sent to them."

'Yearn To Return'
"Our yearning to return is greater and stronger than ever.

"Although the Lord's purpose for this great evacuation and fleeing is yet unknown," Dr. Vogt continued, "out of this may spring a group of Congolese believers stronger than ever before — possibly stronger than they could have been, had we continued to lead them."

Dr. Vogt, who is the cousin of the host church's pastor, the Rev. Robert Vogt, received his medical degree from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

He, with his wife and 4 children, have served in the Congo nearly 3 years in the mission area about 300 miles from Leopoldville.

Behind The Wheel

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Things for automobile drivers across the country are not getting any easier. In Lincoln, for example, the new city budget provides for a third radar unit to help crack down on speeding motorists. The amazing thing is that with all the effort made to stop speeding on city streets one still sees far too much of it. Speed must be a natural instinct in some people and one from which they evidently derive a great deal of satisfaction.

In San Francisco, tests are being run on a new electronic device which would raise the violation sign on meters the instant cars pull away from their metered parking spot. This would prevent a driver from taking advantage of any unused time on the meters and, of course, would bring the city additional revenue. It might even speed up traffic movement a little. It might surprise us if we knew how many people will cruise around for a parking space that they not only can get into, but which has a little free time on it. When it comes to parking meters, people seem to have a fanatical regard for the penny.

A person who sits in their car while waiting for someone to come out of a store seldom puts any money in the meter. Police or meter maids who come by with a violation showing are generally tolerant of such chiselers and gently remind the parker that the meter must be fed even if the car is occupied. Getting caught might be embarrassing but think of the money saved the times you get away with it.

Probably no one has bothered to question the legality of the San Francisco effort to cash in on unused meter time but it could make an interesting question. When the time on the meter has been purchased who does it belong to after it has been abandoned? Maybe the guy who bought it has his rights and it could be assumed that when he leaves time on a meter his intention is to give it to the next parker.

There is one place where motorists enjoy a little advantage if they are on the ball. In one St. Louis, Mo., suburb parking tickets cost only 25 cents if paid within a half hour after they have been issued. This, of course, doesn't make any extra money for the suburb but it sure does a lot for the public relations. It takes care of one of the most frustrating cases involving parking tickets. The person who boils most at a parking ticket is the one who is just a few minutes late getting back. Another five minutes and he would have made it in time and received no ticket.

Technically there is a violation there but it is exasperating to get caught by just a few minutes. But in the St. Louis suburb if you miss your return to the meter by just a few minutes you still have time to get to the police station and take care of the ticket for a quarter. That is pretty soothing syrup and gets the thing quickly out of the way. Of course, it could lead to another complication but you would have to accept that. If you missed the quarter deadline by a couple of minutes you would be peeved all over again.

Something else looking good for the motorist is the national Interstate Highway system which is taking shape across the country. Travel on the Interstate is like going from a bed of spikes to a feather bed. Nebraskans have gotten a little taste of it if they used the few miles now open between Omaha and Lincoln and that little taste really whets the appetite.

When you hit some 70 miles of it as you can do going in or out of St. Louis from the west the real impact of the thing sinks in. Even the early dreamers of the Interstate did not envision the tremendous change it will make in the living and traveling habits of Americans. Travel by automobile will skyrocket when the super highway has been completed across the states.

And there will be a substantial shift in some businesses, too, regardless of what officials say about the small changes that will come about. The Interstate will change stopping habits, and move people more quickly from one place to another. Rather than three days of travel time, many trips will be converted into two days of travel. In pushing ahead with its Interstate, Nebraska might want to give consideration at some time to something besides actual construction. The Nebraska speed limit is 65 miles per hour—five miles an hour under neighboring states of Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

It may seem like an insignificant thing, but a motorist who has travelled 70 across Missouri is going to be irritated at Nebraska's limit. Maybe the added safety feature to us is worth the irritation to others but this is subject to some doubt. It is a question whether Nebraska will want to leave a bad taste in the mouth of visitors from other areas. It is possible that the state may want to make just its Interstate limit the same as that of a majority of its neighbors.

Aged Medical Care Rankles Senators

WASHINGTON—When the Senate Finance Committee shut its doors to debate old-age health insurance in secret, six Democrats not only teamed up with the six Republicans but brought in so many anti-old-age advisers from the Eisenhower administration that Illinois' wrathful Senator Paul Douglas demanded that they leave.

The Democratic-Republican coalition was led by Oklahoma's burly Senator Bob Kerr and Delaware's diminutive Senator Allen Frear, the Mutt and Jeff of the Finance Committee, who supported President Eisenhower's proposals against those of their own Democratic nominee, Senator Jack Kennedy.

"This is the Kerr-Frear-Eisenhower approach," Kerr frankly confessed.

Kerr is the wealthiest member of the Senate, owns oil reserves and leases worth about $100,000,000. Frear votes faithfully and consistently the bidding of the Delaware Du Ponts. They were backstopped by Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, biggest apple-grower in the world.

The issue was whether to charge medical insurance to social security and extend it to all the aged as proposed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, or to keep the present program and limit the benefits to the indigent. As a sop, the coalition agreed to reduce the income limit from $1800 to $1200 and the age limit for men from 65 to 62.

In preparing their proposals, Kerr and Frear were coached by Ike's experts from the treasury and the health-education-welfare departments. But when these advisers were admitted behind closed doors with carefully prepared charts and graphs, Sen. Douglas blew up.

"The Eisenhower administration doesn't call our people in on their decisions," thundered Douglas, "now administration people should not sit in on our executive sessions."

Without a protest from Democrat Kerr, his Republican advisers hastily departed.

Kerr argued that his proposals, beefing up the present program, would provide coverage for oldsters who are not eligible for Social Security. It would also, he said, keep the program under state control.

"But under your bill, a person would have to be practically a medical indigent to receive aid," Douglas protested bitterly. "He would have to submit to the humiliation of professing he is a pauper."

New Mexico's astute Senator Clint Anderson, who did most of the talking behind closed doors for the Kennedy plan, contended that it would be a pay-as-you-go plan, allowing workers to contribute to their own health insurance in later life. At the same time, he said, it would provide immediate relief for old folks who now need medical aid but are not eligible or are too proud to apply as indigents.

A Humane Cause Just The Start

NEW YORK — Anthony Drexel Duke — whose very names conjure up visions of the social and cash registers — is one of the new brand of American philanthropists. Not content with merely putting his money into a humane cause, he adds his heart, brain, time and infinite patience.

Mr. Duke's cause is "Boys Harbor," a camp for boys who are not only underprivileged, but have case histories of trouble with the law: the "hard core of multi-problem children."

With six children of his own, to love and protect, ("there's no economic immunity," he says, "to delinquency"), he annually takes on 75 more youngsters, of all races and creeds, and considers them almost a personal responsibility.

He provides for them nine weeks of summer camp, followed by regular reunions and checkups throughout the winter. The result is that hundreds of boys who were almost certainly headed for jail terms have grown into socially amenable men.

"When I started the camp right after the war, it was easier to straighten out troubled boys. Literally what they needed then was fresh air, sunshine and something good to eat," he remembers. "It was fun.

It's still fun, but it's a new problem. Now teenage boys — through no fault of their own — think differently. "They are children born during the war when parents somehow weren't able to give enough attention to them. 'Permissive education' came in... the 'let the little darlings throw paint on the wall' school that is so much baloney.

"Now all the kids want immediate gratification. They see a car they like. It is no longer normal for them to think of getting a job to earn money to buy the car. No. They get in the car they like and drive away."

Tony pointed out that this is one of the major causes for his "Boys Harbor" teenagers' troubles. "They're not basically thieves. They are rationalizers. They say, 'I just wanted a ride in that car — what's wrong with that?' It's a totally different way of thinking."

Duke lives at the camp, with his considerable family, and guides it. But among his counselors he hires alumni of Boys Harbor.

The unique aspect of Boys Harbor, which sets it apart from publicly endowed ventures for underprivileged youth, is that the same youngsters come back year after year until they're 16. This way, although the number of children benefitted is small, the impact on the lucky ones is great.

In the winter, Tony Duke tends to his real estate and construction business in the Bahamas, trusting his counselors to keep tabs on his campers to make certain the "environment of delinquency" doesn't cause them to backslide. But whenever one of his boys gets in serious trouble — either at home or with the authorities — Tony flies back to New York to do what he can to help.

Wonders Of The Universe

High resolution photographs of the moon taken from an impacting rocket vehicle and televised to the earth is the goal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration within the next year or two. The success of Project Ranger will provide astronomers with their first set of moon pictures permitting close scrutiny of the lunar surface.

These photographs will be dependent on the success which rocket scientists will have with the Atlas Agena-B rocket as the propulsion unit.

The Atlas Agena-B uses the Atlas ICBM for the first stage and the newly developed Agena-B, the rocket developed for the Discoverer Program, as the second stage. This complex is capable of putting some 5,300 pounds in a 300-mile orbit or sending the 12-foot Ranger vehicle weighing over 700 pounds on a 66-hour journey to the moon.

In the case of the lunar impact, when the vehicle comes within 20 miles of the lunar surface, the payload will separate with one section falling to the lunar surface with a speed of some 7,000 miles per hour. This section containing the television camera, transmitter and auxiliary equipment will be destroyed on impact. The second section or capsule containing an accelerometer, thermometer, seismometer and meteor impact recorders along with their transmitting gear will be "eased" by retrorockets to the surface with a speed of about 200 miles an hour.

The slower moving payload will be housed in a crushable structure to absorb the high impact deceleration. With this landing program NASA scientists hope to insure satisfactory operation of the instrument complex.

The success of the Ranger Program will also mark the beginning of a new philosophy inaugurated by NASA. For some time a basic vehicle has been contemplated which, with minor changes, could be used for a variety of missions.

In this basic vehicle would be a propulsion and guidance system for midcourse and terminal maneuvers to be controlled from the earth. To permit these maneuvers, complete stabilization must be realized. A communications system together with its power supply will round out the basic instrumentation. To power the instrumentation and transmitter, some 90 watts of power are required. This will come from the now familiar solar panels. About 20 square feet of solar panels oriented to the sun will be used to create the necessary power.

According to Dr. J. Allen Crocker, co-ordinating chief of the lunar and planetary program, the television camera will be triggered into operation when the vehicle is still 3,000 to 4,000 miles from the lunar surface. At this altitude the entire moon will be captured on the picture though very little detail will be apparent. As the camera approaches the moon, the pictures will encompass smaller and smaller areas giving vastly improved resolution so that fine detail can be discerned. We will know at what we are looking because there will be a gradual transition in the size of the area televised.

At this altitude of 3,000 to 4,000 miles the fall time for the vehicle will be between 20 and 25 minutes. As the pictures will be taken at 10 second intervals, it means that from 120 to 150 pictures will be televised to the earth during this fall. The approximately 10-second intervals between picture taking will be used for "read-out", that is, for relaying the picture to the earth.

The last picture will be taken about 10 seconds before impact, at the moment of separation, when the vehicle is still 20 miles high.

A television camera at 10 miles above the moon will disclose objects 10 feet across. These last pictures will yield definitive information concerning surface layers.

Pictures of this type will permit some idea as to the size of the boulders and rubble on the surface. It may possibly yield some information concerning the dust layers. It may disclose volcanic activity on the moon. This information has been desperately sought by astronomers who have tried to obtain this analytically. With the advent of the Ranger program, pictures may furnish this information.

Project Ranger will mark the beginning of a sustained effort to better understand the lunar surface to eventually prepare for a manned landing on the surface.

One Way Attitude

Lincoln, Neb.

Anita Clark and many other Republicans habitually decry criticism of their administration. Anyone who disagrees with their views, they reason, is an irrational cynic who should be thrown out of the country.

Constructive criticism, however, is a necessary right in a democracy, even when it may embarrass a president and his party. Realistic evaluation of the past is a must because one cannot improve until he recognizes his faults.

In 1952, the GOP certainly didn't hesitate in criticizing the Truman administration. Perhaps today's Nixonites wouldn't be so sensitive either if there weren't something they are too ashamed of.

Get That Cat!

Lincoln, Neb.

Usually I agree with your editorials wholeheartedly, but the one on the cat ordinance struck a sour note.

Are only the honest, law abiding people to obey the law?

The numerous cats which are the worst offenders belong to the don't-care, indifferent law breakers. These are the cats which are never fed. They roam the neighborhood searching for birds and feed on leftovers from the meals of well fed cats. These stray cats do the yowling and fighting and cause most of the trouble.

Unless owners are made to pay for these starving cats the new ordinance is not only a joke, it is a facade. All cats not wearing an identification badge should be shot. Every cat owner who feeds his cat can catch it. He should be made to do it. Otherwise it is a stray cat, a general nuisance and should be destroyed.

We own a cat and approve of the ordinance, but if it is not enforced or obeyed it is a farce and just a waste of paper.

Too Little

Clarkson, Neb.

Now we are getting the costs of the "special," thanks to Hugo Srb — $4,000 plus the nearly $2,000 for super-duper office machinery that we were told they have to have. Add this to the costs of the special ballot for election and miscellany that always creeps in and we have a sum that does not justify the mere $35,000 that the Unicameral voted yes on. And they always say prior to elections that we should be saving and thrifty!

If we Nebraskans do things why in the name of common sense don't we do them as if we mean them—spend money, yes, a million I judge and get our own people to develop something noteworthy. Don't depend upon enticing some state equipment to be dumped on Nebraska lots.

There is a white, workable material made from milk whey (in Europe). Why can't we roll up our technical sleeves and grapple with something similar? The composition has use in the electrical industry (insulation and adaptation).

In the 1920's a million radio amateurs laid the foundation for that now prosperous industry through the sieve of 990,000 heart breaking failures. America developed its own great industry; ignored the petty doings of the sluggish Europeans.

Come, Nebraska, don't stoop to bargain with narrow minded men or covet their goods. Work to create something, then we'll deserve to live high.

GOP Farm Action

Hastings, Neb.

Jack Schuetz, of Lincoln, and a Mr. Terrill, of Wisconsin, are in south central Nebraska organizing a Republican Farm Action Committee. They are unimpressed of the fact that Richard Nixon is trying to shun the name of Republican in his presidential campaign.

Terrill holds that Democrats are to blame for the farm situation. He holds that they could have passed helpful farm legislation. Whenever they tried they ran into a veto from Eisenhower. He was sold on Benson. And don't forget about what Nixon said of Benson at Des Moines in October 1954. He then said, "Benson will go down in history as the nation's most efficient secretary of agriculture."

Problem At 40

Beatrice, Neb.

What is to become of the women who gave up their jobs for marriage and children, then became widowed, but remained at home to see that the children were properly raised. Social security provides for this, but as each child reaches 18, the SS assistance ends.

So after seeing her family raised the widow applies for work she can handle. But her co-workers, age 18 to 25, make it so miserable she is forced to resign. Some of the young people think old age starts at forty.

What is the widow to live on at forty until she can grow old enough again to receive social security? Air is cheap, but one can't live on it alone! The body needs food and clothing.

Some employers have a big help turnover due to policy of hiring the young. Most older employees are more dependable. They don't flit from job to job looking for less work at more pay.

Griess Clan Is Postal Nightmare

By Dean Terrill
 Southeast Nebraska Bureau
 Sutton — Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night deters the faithful postman, but the old boy can sure be slowed down here by the populous Griess family clan.

It's not actually the hundreds of Griesses who cause the trouble, even in a small community, but the quartet of Reubens and duets and trios of other duplicated first names.

A letter addressed simply to "John Griess" gives a postman the real shakes, for finding the correct destination could take him to John W., John C., Johnny C., John M., John H., John O. and Jonathan E.

There are two sources of salvation to the harassed post office, according to Postmaster Gerhardt Wiard, himself a Griess in-law. The German descendants use middle initials as conscientiously as most folks do their first names, and postal employees have learned to look for clues in return addresses.

Banks, newspapers and schools in the area likewise are plagued by the "name's the same" game — and it doesn't end with Reuben and John. Among the 56 lines devoted to Griesses in the Sutton telephone directory are: 3 Oscars, 3 Edmunds and 1 Edwin, 2 Daniels, 2 Ephraims, 2 Harolds, 2 Martins, 2 Raymonds, 2 Richards, and a Paul and a Pauly.

Surprisingly few are of close relationship like father and son, though all are considered "shirt-tail relation."

75 Griess Families
 Helping the Clay County News keep things straight is Mrs. Edwin W. Griess, an employe and another in-law, who estimates that families not in the phone book would boost the clan total to 75. Most of them are farmers, the majority living northeast of Sutton.

"A lot of the middle initials were added for identification and don't stand for a thing," she remarked, "take the 'w' in our own name, for example, or the J. S. that one of the Oscars tackled on."

Even Santa Claus has had his difficulties. The postmaster recalls a Christmas package a couple years ago addressed only to "A. Griess."

Christmas was past before the right little eyes rested on the doll which had been mis-sent to such A. Griesses as August, August M., Adolph, Arthur, Andrew, Anna Marie, Aldine Betty and Mrs. Anna. All the rejections had been noted on the package.

If today's Griesses think they have their troubles, though, they should have been born a generation ago—and been named Henry. Just about the only Henry around now "Lushton Henry," 76, whose German father was one of the original Griess family which immigrated to the community in 1872.

"Once we had 9 Henrys, so all of us were known by nicknames," he recalled. "I was 'Lushton Henry' because I came from the little town of Lushton."

There were also Blue Henry, who farmed on the Blue River, and Thick Henry and Big Henry and Little Henry and White Henry — most of the adjectives spoken in German. H. H. and Henry W. were other monikers, and one fellow, Mehlah Henry, was so tagged because of his wife's maiden name.

Despite all the "Griess Griesses," however, the post office does have it easy in some ways. In the whole population of over 1,300, there are only 3 Smiths and one Jones.

G.I. Woman Dies In Fire

Grand Island (AP) — A 40-year old Grand Island woman, Mrs. Wuanita Shekler, died in a fire Sunday in the Victory apartments. Fire officials said she apparently suffocated.

Investigators said the blaze started in an overstuffed chair in the living room, probably from a cigaret. Mrs. Shekler, also known as Johnny Parker, was found in the bedroom.

Hall County Attorney Gerald Buechler was investigating.

PARADE OF BRIDES

Linda Walt Is Bride

A green and white motif introduced with hurricane candles, arrangements of white blossoms and greenery, appointed the chancel of the First-Plymouth Congregational Church for the wedding on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21, of Miss Linda Walt, daughter of Mr. Ernest Fred Walt, and the late Mr. Walt, to Charles Stephen Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson.

Romance blue silk organza, patterned with an overall silk embroidery, was chosen for the costumes of the attendants, including Mrs. William E. Condon of Sterling, Colo., who was her sister's matron of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Ronald Krafka, Miss Jean Carlson and Miss Mary Walt.

James Timothy Wilson served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Robert B. Wilson, Jr., of Cambridge, Mass.; Robert Hall, Richard Kelly, both of Omaha; Robert Schreff, Richard Youngsack, Richard Jacobs and Dick Venner.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza patterned with embroidery in a leaf motif. The smoothly sculptured bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and brief sleeves, and the voluminous skirt was given added bouffancy with winged puffs which gave a bustle effect in the back. Her shoulder-length veil was held to the head with a minute crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Following the church parlor reception Mr. Wilson and his bride left for Chicago where they will reside at 3001 So. Parkway, Apt. 714.

The bride was graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and was the 1960 May Queen. Mr. Wilson also is a June graduate from the University of Nebraska and is a member of Phi Delta Theta, Phi Beta Kappa and Innocents. In September he will enter Northwestern University Medical School.

Herzinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Herzinger of Beemer, which took place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21. The Rev. Nye C. Bond read the lines of the 3 o'clock service, and Mrs. F. O. Woodard played the wedding music. Robert Gibb was the vocal soloist.

Alike, floor-length frocks of pink chiffon over taffeta were worn by the attendants, including Miss Rojane Waller, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Jamison, Miss Norma Hawk and Mrs. Thomas Miller. Their colonial bouquets were fashioned of white carnations.

Weddings On Sunday

CRONE-LYTLE

Bouquets of white gladioli accented with swags of turquoise satin appointed the chancel of the Centenary Methodist Church at Beatrice Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21, for the wedding of Miss Deanna Rae Crone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crone of Beatrice, and Kenneth A. Lytle, son of Mrs. Carl Lytle of Odell. The Rev. Walter L. Jewett read the lines of the service.

Frocked in turquoise organza in the Empire mode with flaring redingote skirts were Miss Barbara Lynn Crone, Lincoln, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Janice Gottula, Lincoln; Miss Karen Schuster, Beatrice; and Miss Carolyn Orr, Dakota City.

Carl Lytle, Jr., served his brother as best man, and the ushers were John Crone, Jr., Beatrice, brother of the bride; Edward Pavlik and Elmer Antons, Odell.

White silk organza was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. Jeweled appliques of Alencon lace bordered the portrait neckline and patterned the front of the long-sleeved basque, and below the slim Elizabethan waist, the skirt was shirred into extreme fullness and continued into a whisper train. A crown of pearlized blossoms held her illusion veil, and her bouquet of white gladioli and tuberoses was tufted with turquoise net.

The couple will reside at Odell. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

the Second Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21, for the wedding of Miss Regina Naoma Sayker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Sayker, and Richard Dale Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl O. Miller. The lines of the 5 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Robert Heydon.

Wearing a wide-skirted frock in pale leaf green sheer and carrying a nosegay of white and pink gladioli and pompons was the maid of honor, Miss Sharon Johnson. Miss Marcia Sue Sayker was the flower girl. Serving Mr. Miller as best man was Frank Gates, and seating the guests were Robert L. Miller and Patrick Sayker.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline dotted with pearls and iridescent, and the skirt flared widely to cotillion length. A queen's crown of pearls and crystal teardrops held her illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white, feathered carnations.

The couple will make their home at Sioux Falls, S.D.

Final contract — six spades. Opening lead — jack of hearts.

Here is a well-played hand that occurred during San Francisco Bridge Week several years ago. We can't say much about the bidding, which is unknown to us, but an optimistic six spade contract was reached.

Declarer was Kai Larsen of San Francisco. Prospects of making the slam were not bright after West led a heart and dummy appeared. There was a club loser to begin with, and one or two probable trump losers.

The chief hope of making the hand was to find the Q-J of spades alone, in which case the trump loser could be avoided. In addition, there was a possibility of avoiding the club loser by means of a squeeze, even if a trump had to be lost, and there was furthermore a chance of escaping a spade loser even though the suit was divided 4-1.

Attempting to cover all these possibilities, Larsen won the heart lead with the king, cashed the ace of diamonds, and led the ace and another heart, ruffing in dummy. Next he trumped a diamond in order to reduce his spade length and prepare for a possible trump coup.

When declarer then led a spade to the ace, West played the queen. Larsen now decided to play on the basis that West's queen was a singleton, and not a false-card from the Q-J.

Accordingly, he ruffed a diamond and cashed the A-K of clubs to bring about this position:

North		East
♠ 8 5		♠ 3 9 5

South		West
♠ K 10 8		♠ 10 9
♥ A		♥ K
♦ A		♦ 10
♣ 7		♣ 10

The lead was in dummy. A diamond was played and Larsen was bound to take three tricks. He could win the diamond with a trump, regardless of how East defended, and could then exit with a club to capture the last two tricks.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I contracted T.B. After spending 16 months in a sanitarium, the doctor said I was cured and could go home.

I wrote to my family and told them I was coming home. They tore up my letter into little pieces and sent it back, saying "DON'T COME HOME".

I wrote them again and even had the doctor write to them enclosing pamphlets which explained there was nothing to be afraid of, but they never answered.

Does everyone feel this way about a member of their family who has been ill and pronounced completely cured? Or are my people just plain ignorant?

CURED BUT SICK AT HEART

DEAR CURED: Everyone, thank heavens, does not feel the way your family does. Your people are more than "just plain ignorant". They are cruel, stubborn and content to stay that way.

They are the losers — pity them.

DEAR ABBY: We are two college girls. The only job we could find this summer was car-hopping at a local drive-in for 65 cents an hour. The rest is supposed to come from tips, but I don't think the customers realize this. For instance, a man will buy a 55c hamburger to feed his poodle and won't even leave a dime tip. People with $3 and $4 orders leave nothing. How would you suggest we clue them in? The management won't put up a sign to let people know tips are expected.

TIPLESS

DEAR TIPLESS: I'll give you a tip. Customers resent being "clued in" to tip under any circumstances. There is a growing resentment to "tipping" because instead of giving good service and gratefully ACCEPTING a tip, many give poor service EXPECTING a tip.

DEAR ABBY: We have a neighbor right next door to us and she is always looking in our window. I don't know how she gets her housework done. Every time I happen to pass my window that faces hers, I see her looking. She once called me up and asked me to settle an argument between her and her husband. So what was the argument? She said the plant I had sitting in my hallway was PERTUSUM and her husband said it was MONSTERA. How do you cope with people who are so nervy?

CONSTANTLY OBSERVED

DEAR OBSERVED: When neighbors necks get rubbery. Better plant some shrubbery.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OLLIE": Put your cards on the table and quit trying to drink yourself under it.

FOXES OVERHAUL CHIEFS

Carver's Clout Decides, 11-10

ECHO I PASSES 3 TIMES

By Larry Novicki

Fox Cities catcher Jim Carver laced a home run over the left field fence with a mate aboard in the top of the 9th to give the league leaders an 11-10 win over Lincoln's Chiefs Sunday night.

Space satellite Echo passed over Sherman field 3 times while the Chiefs and the Foxes battled it out in a 3 hour and 44 minute marathon.

The game statistics, piled one on top of each other, might have reached into outer space themselves.

Eight pitchers paraded to the mound, 5 for the Foxes and 3 for the Chiefs. There were 21 runs, 24 hits and 19 runners left on base.

Eleven runs were scored during the hour-long 7th frame. Lincoln had its biggest rally of the season, notching 8 tallies in the marathon frame.

Fourteen batters waved their sticks at two Fox pitchers in the big inning, which sent the Chiefs ahead 10-6.

Al Bullock's 2-run homer started things off. Then 5 more hits and 3 walks added another 6 tallies.

The Foxes, who had gone ahead, 6-2, on back-to-back homers by John Powell and Pete Ward, were down 10-6 but not for long.

They added 3 in the top of the 8th on 3 singles and a couple of free passes.

This set the stage for Carver's circuit smash with Photo Anthony on via a walk.

The Chiefs had a golden opportunity to win or at least tie in their half of the 9th when they loaded the sacks with none out.

But pinch hitter Pug Williamson watched two Bob Cooper deliveries sizzle down the pipe. Williamson went down swinging on the next pitch.

Don Buford bounced one to Powell at first, who forced Al Weis at home. Then Gary Johnson fouled out to catcher Carver.

After Bullock had homered, relief pitcher Dan Osinski walked and Buford singled. Gary Johnson hit a rolled to Ward at 3rd.

Johnson was ruled safe at first on the throw by Ward. Ward argued violently and had to be restrained from attacking the umpire by Foxes' manager Earl Weaver.

Chiefs' pilot Ira Hutchinson protested because Ward was not removed from the game for his tirade.

CARDINALS REGAIN 3RD PLACE

Broglie, McDaniel Shut Out Dodgers

St. Louis (P)—Ernie Broglie and Lindy McDaniel collaborated to pitch the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday.

Bob Nieman hit a solo home run in the 4th inning and Ken Boyer doubled Julien Javier home in the 8th to provide the margin.

Curt Flood contributed a key play in the 8th to preserve the shutout.

John Roseboro led off for the Dodgers with a double and McDaniel, who relieved at that point, fanned pinch batter Irv Noren and Maury Wills. Jim Gilliam slashed a single over second base but Flood's perfect peg cut down Roseboro at the plate.

The Broglie verdict gave him a season mark of 15-6 and continued a dismal string for Sandy Koufax against the Cards.

Herbert Hurls, Bats A's Past White Sox

Kansas City (P)—Ray Herbert pitched a 3-hitter Sunday as the Kansas City Athletics flailed their way out of a 10-game losing streak by thumping 5 Chicago pitchers for 17 hits and an 8-1 victory.

Herbert, who collected 3 of the A's hits, singled home a run in the second inning against Bob Shaw to break a 1-1 tie and put the Athletics on top to stay. The A's clinched the decision with a 5-run outburst in the 6th against Russ Kemmerer and Frank Baumann.

Herbert and Hank Bauer got the A's rally started in the 6th with run scoring singles. Then Andy Carey slammed a 3-run homer.

Bill Tuttle concluded the A's scoring with a homer in the 7th.

The White Sox's loss cost them a chance to gain ground on the New York Yankees, who lost to Washington.

The Baltimore Orioles, who defeated Boston, moved into a tie for second with the Sox. They both trail the Yankees by a game and a half.

The Athletics, who had not won a game since August 10, equalled their high hit total for the season.

Carey, Herbert and Ken Hamlin all had 3 hits apiece and every player in the lineup hit safely except Danny Kravitz.

Herbert's victory was his 8th against 13 losses and his first over the Sox this season. The A's had lost 9 straight to the Sox and had not defeated them since June 3.

Shaw suffered the loss, his

Lincoln (P)—More than 10,000 would-be deer or antelope hunters in Nebraska have applied for permits for the season coming up, the State Game Commission reported Sunday.

The 10,756 applicants include the 550 who have taken the available antelope permits, and 418 who have received archery permits for the bow-and-arrow season opening Sept. 10.

In the deer hunting areas, all available permits have been claimed in the Omaha and lower Missouri regions. The Eastern Platte area has a few permits still available and the Pine Ridge area counts 543 of 3,000 permits left.

U.S. Tracksters Outclass Swiss International Field

Calhoun Hurdles :13.2; Boston Leaps 26-87/8

Bern, Switzerland. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic track team, winding up competitive training for the Rome Games, completely dominated an international meet here Sunday and even though taking it easy equalled one world record, and served notice of peak fitness for the 1960 test.

Out of 11 events, the 67-man American team won 10, just as they did Saturday, over mediocre athletes from 7 European countries.

Only Poland's silver medal Olympian in the javelin, Janusz Sidlo, was able to break the streak by capturing his specialty with ease from Bill Alley of Short Hills, N.J.

The roars of the shirt-sleeved crowd of 17,500 went to Lee Calhoun for his world record matching 13.2 seconds in the 110-meter hurdles.

The Gary, Ind. speedster didn't even realize he had equalled the world and European record of Martin Lauer of Germany until well after the race, and then he found fault with the way he did it. "I didn't feel my best," Calhoun said. "I had too much lift and was too high over the hurdles. Normally I'm very level and I thought I was doing 14.5 or 14.7. I didn't really feel so fast and I think I could be faster."

The U.S. track coaches exulted that the performance definitely puts Calhoun in the top favored spot for an Olympic gold medal.

Other top displays in the bright sun and windless weather this afternoon came from broad jumper Ralph Boston who broke old master Jesse Owens 25-year-old record for the second time this year, and a surprising one-two American finish in the 3,000-meter run ahead of Britain's great Gordon Pirie.

Boston, from Laurel, Miss., leaped 26 feet, 8 and 7-8 inches Sunday, 3 quarters of an inch better than Owens' 1935 effort which withstood a quarter century assault when all other marks were toppling in modern times.

Up for approval is Boston's 26 feet, 11 1/4 inches set earlier this year.

Rodgers' Homer Gives S.F. Split

Chicago (AP) — Andre Rodgers' 3-run homer for San Francisco helped Georges Maranda make his first major league start a success with a 5-3 victory Sunday after the Chicago Cubs had defeated the Giants 5-3 in the first game of a doubleheader. Rodgers' homer — his first this year — came in the 6th inning with two out after the Cubs had intentionally walked catcher Hobie Landrith.

A crowd of 29,862 had visions of a double Cub victory when Ernie Banks slammed his 35th homer with a man on in the 4th inning.

The Giants, however, tied it in the 5th on a pair of walks, a pinch single by Willie McCovey and a single by Don Blasingame.
